MRS. YOUNG ON JOB

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young is again Chicago's superintendent of schools.

The noted educator returned to the city last night and announced definitely that she would again assume the job from which she was ousted—an act that cost four of the "ousters" their places on the board.

Mrs. Young refused to discuss John D. Shoop or the recent war on the school board.

Shoop and his attorneys have not yet decided what action to take.
